St. Louis County Department of Public Health COVID-19 Update

Stay and Pray

This is an important time for people of many faiths. The way we will have to celebrate Easter and Passover will be different this year, but honoring these traditions are no less important. We all have a role to play in protecting those we share our homes with, those we share our places of worship with, and those we share our communities with.

We can:

- Take advantage of the ability to participate in services that are available online or on television.
- Continue family traditions through video chat or phone calls.
- Cook traditional foods to enjoy the familiar tastes and smells of the holiday.
- Celebrate in person with those that live with us.

What we should avoid doing:

- Attending any in-person worship service.
- Congregating in public areas.
- Inviting others to celebrate at our home.
- Attending a celebration outside of our homes.

Text Message Alerts

St. Louis County continues to leverage technology to inform and educate as many people as possible to limit the impact COVID-19 will have on our region. As a reminder, text message alerts are available. Messages are only disseminated during reasonable hours of the day and the content is focused on the most important topics and/or services.

To sign up for them, text: STLOUISCOALERT to 67283. To stop receiving alerts, text: STOP STLOUISCOALERT to 67283.
